

CFD STATEMENT FROM THE GOVERNOR

Every day, those who work in state and local government and in the field of education renew their dedication to making Washington a better place to live. And their spirit of generosity is especially evident during the Combined Fund Drive (CFD).

Last year alone, active and retired state employees pledged more than $5.6 million to charities through this program – resulting in one of the most successful fundraising campaigns of its type in the nation. These gifts made a substantial difference. They enabled food banks to replenish sorely depleted supplies, supported outstanding youth programs, brought comfort to the elderly, strengthened the arts, furthered habitat restoration efforts, and enhanced numerous other endeavors.

2005 marked the 21st anniversary of this exciting program. Since its inception, the CFD has raised more than $73 million in pledges. Success can be measured in other ways as well. Washington's online contribution management system, introduced in 2004, has proven to be extremely popular. More than 60 percent of state employees used the new GivingStation program to view and update their personal charitable giving records. The system is easy to use, conserves state resources, and helps maximize the dollars that can be applied to direct service.

Other innovations are on the horizon. In 2006, charitable organizations will be able to submit CFD applications online for the first time, thanks to a special program created by CreateHope. The CFD board also will be seeking matching grants from corporations and private foundations in 2006, so that state employee contributions will have even greater impact. And it will continue to partner with employees from the city of Seattle, the Port of Olympia, the Thurston County School District, the Seattle Housing Authority, and others.

I am particularly excited about expanded training opportunities for CFD volunteers. Last year the CFD and Washington State University joined together to offer a superb three-day leadership and management course with a CFD practicum between sessions. It was a wonderful way for volunteers to gain the skills that will help them with the fund drive campaign and in their professional careers. I look forward to the further expansion of this program in 2006.

As chair of the Combined Fund Drive, I applaud each of you who gave to the charity of your choice through the CFD over the years, and I encourage even more of you to participate this year. Your generosity is changing lives!

Sincerely,

Christine O. Gregoire
Governor

I am pleased to report that Washington State and city of Seattle employees and public agency retirees generously pledged a record $5.6 million to more than 2,000 charities during the 2005 Combined Fund Drive (CFD) campaign. Further, pledges have totaled over $5 million in each of the past three years.

The Combined Fund Drive provides a channel for public employees and retirees to join together to make a difference in communities at home and across the world. Since the workplace giving program began 21 years ago, more than $73 million has been pledged by employees and retirees to charities throughout Washington and globally.

The CFD owes its success to the generous support of state employees and public agency retirees. In communities across the state, volunteers give their time and energy to educate their colleagues about the Combined Fund Drive and to coordinate each year's campaign activities. In return, employees have increased the amount raised for charities each year.

The Department of Personnel provides the administrative support for the campaign. The Giving Station has proven to be an efficient and popular giving option for donors. The Giving Station is among the first online giving systems in the nation. Many donors used the online system as a means to donate additional Combined Fund Drive dollars to charities helping the victims of Hurricane Katrina.

State employees and retirees have made the CFD one of the leading state campaigns in the nation. I am pleased to be leading the Department of Personnel and its effort to make the CFD even better. Thank you, state employees, for caring.

Sincerely,

Eva Santos
Director

MAKING CHANGES – To Help More People

On-line GivingStation

In the summer of 2004, a partnership between Department of Personnel's Combined Fund Drive and CreateHope opened up the door to the GivingStation, an on-line charitable contribution management system. This system went live in the fall of 2004, and the 2005 campaign was the second web-based campaign for the CFD. Active and retired employees now have secure 24hr. access to the GivingStation, providing each CFD participant the flexibility, control and the opportunity to establish and update their profiles and charitable giving with ease.

Disaster Relief Program

In response to the need to help victims of Hurricane Katrina, Governor Gregoire announced "Washington Cares", in September 2005. To help manage the outpour of generous giving from state employees, CreateHope worked with the CFD to establish an on-line giving program for disaster relief as a part of the Governor's request for help. The GivingStation was used to collect pledges and track funds donated by state and retired public employees and allowed the CFD to easily report the impact of our employee's relief efforts.

Employee Donations to Hurricane Katrina Relief:

Donations through the CFD:	$33,339.00
Donations directly to Washington Cares:	$22,684.00
Total:	$56,023.00

Management Development Experience (MDE)

The CFD partnered with Washington State University to develop and provide a new training program for CFD volunteers in 2005. The Management Development Experience (MDE) is an accelerated training program for campaign leaders to assist them in their volunteer efforts within the CFD. The training provided 36 hours of management and leadership training to 30 state employees from a variety of state agencies and higher education institutions that involved a practicum between sessions

PERFORMANCE & FINANCIAL REPORT

State employees made payroll or one-time pledges totaling over $5.46 million in the 2004 CFD campaign. The financial statement below reflects how donations for CFD pledged in 2004 were collected and distributed in 2005. It is a summary of the program's expenses, along with the total dollars disbursed to the charities.

The county summary reflects pledges from the 2005 campaign that will be disbursed quarterly in 2006.
